Important note for travel to Iran

State offices and authorities, hotels and service providers in Iran are making the greatest effort, but after years of sanctions, infrastructural impairments and longer waiting times must be expected. The hotel standard cannot always be measured by European standards, due to renovation stagnation. Many hotels are owned by the state. This could lead to the problem that your hotel is not available as booked and confirmed due to measures or decisions of government agencies – e.g. during highly frequented trade fairs or during political delegations from all over the world. We do not have any influence on such transfers or cancellations, which can also occur shortly before travel, but we will try to accommodate our customers in the best possible way, in cooperation with our dedicated local partners. We ask for your understanding and special serenity.
